HEALTH AND SAFETY TRAINING APPROVED OPTIONS LIST

5/31/16

As part of the federal Child Care and Development Block Grant Act 2014, states must require health and safety pre-service or orientation training for CCDF providers. The new law requires training in 10 specific health and safety topic areas and recommends training in the domains of Child Development. The intent of the training is to support basic health and safety standards designed to prevent harm to children.

The Office of Early Childhood and Out of School Learning (OECOSL) developed the following list of approved training options to guide you in meeting the new health and safety orientation training requirements. The list is organized by the required health and safety topic areas, There are many options included on the list that are available at little or no cost. Some options listed, such as a CDA Credential or the new Introduction to the Early Childhood and Out of School Learning Profession modules, will apply toward meeting multiple topics. If you have completed any of the approved trainings from this list in the past, and have documentation of the training or coursework such as a certificate or transcript, the training or coursework can be counted toward meeting the topic area requirement for you. Your documentation of meeting the 10 required training topic areas must be maintained in your staff training files.

This list is not exhaustive, and additional options may be approved and included in the future as identified.
